

Coventry Foundation Report CR6 A-F

A little more than 14 years ago a very small group of Jaguar folks set out to preserve the history of Jaguar cars and their impact on the North American sports car experience. We at the Foundation are happy to report that due to the amazing support and acceptance of our mission we continue to grow into a very healthy organization. Our organizations are mutually supporting although very separate in our missions. What follows is a brief update for the membership of JCNA as to the organization and current status of the Foundation as well as report on the services that the Foundation provides to JCNA members.

CR6A Publications

Print publications are in a curious place. Some argue that everything should be electronic or that everything is that way now. Nothing could be further from the truth. There is still demand for printed materials and JCNA is no exception.

Currently our vendors are about to raise prices on new publications to cover cost. Soon the prices for books in the shoppe will rise moderately but the vendors assure us that JCNA will enjoy a discount to make it competitive. As far as JCNA materials the cost of printing and paper has risen but there is still a demand for those booklets of which many are not available elsewhere. JCNA has made agreements in the past with the authors that while reprinting permission is granted they may NEVER be available electronically. JCNA will have to honor that as it always has.

Authors of the judging guides have granted publication rights to the guides but retain ownership and editorial rights. Currently 5 authors have approached the Foundation and requested the Foundation take over this oversight and control of 9 of these guides. The Foundation will have the same approach to JCNA as has always existed. This is simply informational. Should there be future requests for changes to the guides follow the format for change request and write help@coventryfoundation.org. Should research conclude a change is required an update to the guide will be made.